

Tracy L. Fehr

Tracy Fehr focuses her career on fighting for individual rights. She primarily handles discrimination, harassment, retaliation and wrongful termination cases against both private and public sector employers. In her more than ten years of practice, Tracy has second-chaired state and federal jury trials and binding arbitrations and has settled countless cases at mediation. Tracy also handles appeals and writes for Alexander Krakow + Glick, including successful appeals in Salinda v. DirecTV, LLC (Not Reported in Cal.Rptr.3d, 2016 WL 1408758) Bazua v. City of Montebello (Not Reported in Cal.Rptr.3d, 2016 WL 944418), and three successful appeals in Taylor v. Long Beach Memorial Medical Center (Not Reported in Cal.Rptr.3d, 2014 WL 1255314).

Tracy was named a Southern California “Rising Star” by Super Lawyers Magazine in 2013, 2014, and 2015. She is a member of the California Employment Lawyers Association (CELA), plaintiff employment law organization LEFTJAW, the Labor and Employment Section of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles (WLALA), and the Santa Monica Bar Association. Tracy has prepared and edited several articles for presentation at legal conferences.

Tracy received her J.D. from the University of Southern California’s Gould School of Law in 2005. While in law school, Tracy worked for USC’s prestigious Post-Conviction Justice Project and filed briefing in the United States Supreme Court. She was also a Senior Editor for the Review of Law and Women’s Studies. Tracy graduated summa cum laude from Binghamton University in 2002, with a B.A. in Psychology and a minor in History.

Tracy grew up in western New York. She enjoys exploring Los Angeles restaurants, traveling, television, and the Boston Red Sox.
